Summary

This is statutory guidance from the Department for Education. This means that those involved in managing statutory induction arrangements must have regard to it when carrying out their relevant duties. The guidance covers those settings which are both required to or choose to offer induction to their early career teachers (ECTs). The term 'early career teacher' refers to a newly qualified teacher in their first or second year of induction.

Legislation this publication refers to Sections 135A, 135B and 141C(1)(b), of the Education Act 2002 and The Education (Induction Arrangements for School Teachers) (England) Regulations 2012 as amended.

Who this publication is for

This guidance is for:

- appropriate bodies – teaching school hubs; and other organisations determined by the Secretary of State who can act in this role;
- headteachers/principals, teachers and governing bodies in all maintained schools, independent schools, academies¹ and free schools; and
- staff in other settings in which induction can be served – further education (FE) colleges; sixth-form colleges; British schools overseas (BSOs); nursery schools; and pupil referral units (PRUs).

Main points

- All qualified teachers who are employed in a relevant school² in England must, by law, have completed an induction period satisfactorily, subject to specified exemptions (See Annex A).
- Statutory induction is not a legal requirement to teach in Further Education (FE) or the independent sector, academies, free schools and BSOs, but may be served in these settings.

² See para 2.1 for a list of relevant schools.

- Training based on the Initial Teacher Training and Early Career Framework (ITTECF) is expected to be embedded as a central aspect of induction; it is not an additional training programme.
- An appropriate body has the main quality assurance role within the induction process. The appropriate body is responsible for checking that headteachers/principals have put in place an induction programme for the ECT and ensuring that this programme of support is clearly based on the ITTECF. Refer to: Find an appropriate body - GOV.UK for a list of appropriate bodies.
- ECTs should receive support and regular, termly reviews of their progress against the Teachers' Standards throughout induction, with formal assessment points at the end of each year. ECTs should be kept up to date on their progress. There should be nothing unexpected.

Document History

This guidance was significantly updated in March 2021 to reflect reforms introducing an ECF-based induction. It was then updated again in April 2023 to reflect changes to which organisations can be appropriate bodies and to update exemptions to reflect the new approach to overseas teaching qualifications, and again in April 2024 to add Educational Success Partners (ESP) to the list of organisations determined by the Secretary of State to act as an appropriate body. Carer's leave was also added to the list of types of absences which are exempt from counting towards an automatic extension of an induction period (paragraph 3.8) alongside other clarifications.

April 2025 updates

This guidance was previously updated in April 2025 with the following changes:

- From 1 September 2025, the Early Career Framework (ECF) will be superseded by the updated Initial Teacher Training and Early Career Framework (ITTECF) and schools are expected to deliver a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF. Appropriate bodies have a role in checking that a programme based on the ITTECF is in place (see paragraph 5.11).

- There are now two approaches schools can choose from, to enable the delivery of a training programme based on the ITTECF (see paragraph 2.41).
- From 1 September 2025, the term Early Career Teacher Entitlement (ECTE) will replace the terms ‘ECF-based training and induction’ to more clearly capture what forms the two-year period of support and training for ECTs at the start of their career. This change is to simplify the terminology used and does not represent any additional requirements to statutory induction.
- References to Local Authorities undertaking the role of appropriate bodies have been removed, as Local Authorities can no longer be appropriate bodies.
- References to the Teacher Regulation Agency (TRA) have been updated now that ECT record systems have transferred to the Department for Education.
- Neonatal care leave has been added to the list of types of statutory absences which are exempt from counting towards an automatic extension of an induction period (paragraph 3.8).

What’s new from June 2026

This guidance has been further updated since the previous version (issued in April 2025). The following changes have been made:

- updates to reflect the Ofsted inspection framework from 10 November 2025, including new urgent improvement judgements and safeguarding outcomes, and their impact on induction in FE institutions (see paragraphs 2.4 and 2.7).

In addition, the following clarifications to existing guidance have been made on:

- How the only circumstance in which a time limit applies to the requirement to complete an induction period relates to short-term (less than one term) supply teaching (see paragraphs 1.10 and 2.14-2.17)
- The start dates for induction and ITTECF-based training (see paragraph 2.13).
- How absences should be recorded in interim assessments and on the record induction for appropriate bodies service (see paragraph 2.63).

- Reflecting that additional absences cannot be added on top of an existing absence related extension (see paragraph 3.7)
- Which institution and appropriate body is responsible for conducting the final assessment for a teacher who has chosen not to extend their induction period after statutory leave to reflect the number of days absent for this purpose (see paragraph 3.9)
- The circumstances in which, where records have either been lost or are in error through no fault of the teacher concerned, the appropriate body can treat the teacher as having satisfactorily completed induction (see paragraphs 3.14-3.15)

Section 1: Introduction

Purpose of Induction

1.1 Statutory induction is the bridge between initial teacher training and a career in teaching. It combines a structured programme of development, support and professional dialogue, underpinned by the ITTECF, with monitoring and an assessment of performance against the Teachers' Standards (see paragraph 1.9). The programme should support the ECT and provide them with the necessary training to ensure that they can demonstrate that their performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory by the end of the period. Induction should provide a foundation for ECTs and equip them with the tools to be an effective and successful teacher.

The statutory framework

- 1.2 The statutory provisions which underpin this guidance are sections 135A-C and 141C(1)(b) of the Education Act 2002, and the Education (Induction Arrangements for School Teachers) (England) Regulations 2012, as amended, (hereafter referred to as 'the 2012 Regulations').
- 1.3 This guidance explains the provisions and helps individuals to comply with the 2012 Regulations, which came into effect on 1 September 2012, and which have been amended on a number of occasions since. The guidance is not a complete and authoritative statement of the law, but anyone exercising any function under the Regulations must have regard to the guidance.

Transitional arrangements

- 1.4 The 2012 Regulations, amended with effect from 1 September 2021, extended induction from one year to two years. This applied to all ECTs who started induction on or after 1 September 2021.
- 1.5 ECTs who, on 1 September 2021, had started but not completed their induction, hereafter referred to as ‘the pre-September 2021 cohort’ had until 1 September 2023 to complete induction within three terms³.
- 1.6 If an ECT in the pre-September 2021 cohort had concluded their three-term induction before 1 September 2023 but the appropriate body decided that an extension period was required in order to evidence meeting the Teachers’ Standards which took the ECT past 1 September 2023, they will only have needed to complete the agreed period of extension (see paragraphs 3.10 - 3.12).
- 1.7 Where possible, schools should have regard to this amended statutory guidance in relation to ECTs who began their statutory induction before 1 September 2021. For example, where possible these ECTs should have a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF and a mentor for the remainder of their one-year induction. This is to be decided by the headteacher and appropriate body given what is most appropriate in the circumstances and considering what proportion of the induction period remains to be served.
- 1.8 After 1 September 2023, when the transition period ended, all ECTs who began a 3-term induction prior to September 2021 but did not yet complete it have been required to complete a two-year induction period (with the exception of those in the pre-September 2021 cohort who have already concluded their three-term induction, and are only now due to complete an extension as set out in paragraph 1.6). These ECTs should not restart induction but rather complete the remaining period of a two-year induction. It is expected that they will be able to access a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF, including entitlements, for the remainder of their induction.

³ The pre-September 2021 cohort should continue to have regard to previous statutory guidance, last revised in April 2018. <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/induction-for-newly-qualified-teachers-nqts>

The relevant standards

- 1.9 The Teachers' Standards will be used to assess an ECT's performance at the end of their induction period. The decision about whether an ECT's performance against the relevant standards is satisfactory upon completion of induction should take into account the ECT's work context and must be made on the basis of what can be reasonably expected of an ECT by the end of their induction period within the context of the standards. Judgements should reflect the expectation that ECTs have effectively consolidated their initial teacher training (ITT) and demonstrated their ability to meet the Teachers' Standards consistently over a sustained period in their practice. The ITTECF is not and should not be used as an assessment tool.

Requirement to complete an induction period

- 1.10 Subject to the exemptions listed in Annex A (see Schedule 1 of the 2012 Regulations), a qualified teacher cannot be employed as a teacher in a relevant school in England unless they have satisfactorily completed an induction period in accordance with the 2012 Regulations and this guidance. While ECTs are encouraged to start their induction as soon as possible after gaining qualified teacher status (QTS), there is no set time limit for starting or completing an induction period. The only circumstance in which a time limit applies to the requirement to complete an induction period relates to short-term (less than one term) supply teaching (see paras 2.14-2.17). An ECT's QTS cannot be lost or affected by the length of time it takes them to complete induction.
- 1.11 There is no legal requirement to satisfactorily complete an induction period if an ECT intends to work solely in the independent sector, an academy, a free school, a BSO, an independent nursery school or an FE institution. However, it may be possible for an ECT to serve a statutory induction period in such settings as set out in this guidance.

Exemptions to the requirement to serve an induction period

- 1.12 Annex A provides information on those categories of qualified teachers who are exempt from the requirement to satisfactorily complete a statutory induction period in order to be employed as a teacher in a relevant school.

Early career teachers may only serve one induction period

1.13 An ECT has only one chance to complete statutory induction. An ECT who has completed induction and is judged to have failed to meet the Teachers' Standards at the end of their induction period, is not permitted to repeat induction (although they may appeal against the decision: see paragraphs 4.9–4.10). While such an ECT does not lose their QTS, they cannot be employed lawfully as a teacher in a relevant school, including any post where they would carry out specified work. Their name is included on the list of persons, held by the Teaching Regulation Agency, who have failed to satisfactorily complete an induction period.

Section 2: The induction process

Institutions in which induction may be served

2.1 The 2012 Regulations specify that induction can be served in the following institutions:

- a relevant school in England – this includes: a maintained school; a non-maintained special school; a maintained nursery school; a nursery school that forms part of a maintained school; a local authority-maintained children's centre; and a pupil referral unit (PRU)
- a non-maintained nursery school
- an independent school in England; academies; free schools; 16–19 academies; alternative provision academies; and city technology colleges or an independent nursery school subject to the circumstances set out in paragraph 2.4⁴
- a further education (FE) institution, including a sixth-form college, in the circumstances set out in paragraph 2.3
- an independent school overseas which:
 - has been inspected by a DfE-accredited inspectorate within the last six years against the Standards for Inspection of BSOs; and
 - has satisfactorily met all of those standards/categories; and

⁴ Independent schools, independent nurseries, academies, free schools, FE institutions and British Schools Overseas (BSOs) are not required to offer statutory induction to their ECTs, but if they choose to do so must adhere to the 2012 Regulations and have regard to the statutory guidance.

- is a member of an organisation which the DfE has determined may represent such schools
- a school or FE institution in Wales in which an induction period may be served under Welsh regulations.

Induction in a maintained, non-maintained or independent nursery school, or maintained children’s centre

2.2 ECTs employed and completing a period or part-period of statutory induction in these settings must have a headteacher/principal who can make the recommendation against the Teachers’ Standards and should teach classes of pupils predominantly aged three and over. The headteacher/principal should ensure that the ECT’s post is suitable for induction (see paras 2.18–2.19).

Induction in further education institutions (including sixth-form colleges and 16-19 academies)

2.3 An FE institution, sixth-form college or 16–19 academy wishing to offer an ECT a post in which to serve a statutory induction period is expected to:

- ensure that normally no more than 10% of the ECT’s teaching in the FE institution is devoted to teaching classes predominantly consisting of pupils aged 19 and over;
- enable the ECT to develop a sound knowledge and understanding of day-to-day practices and the role of a teacher in a school; ECTs should spend the equivalent of at least ten days teaching children of compulsory school age in a school during their induction; and
- make every effort to provide the ECT with up to a further 15 days’ experience in a school setting.

Institutions where induction cannot be served

2.4 Workplaces which cannot offer statutory induction are:

- a school requiring special measures (i.e. one which is eligible for intervention)⁵), except in cases where Ofsted has judged a school, or part of a school, to be suitable to host induction (see paragraphs 2.5–2.6)

⁵ Under section 62 of the Education and Inspections Act 2006

- an FE institution where, following an Ofsted inspection, it is reported that the overall effectiveness of the institution, or part of its education or training, has been judged to be inadequate (category 4) or, in the case of an Ofsted inspection on or after 10 November 2025, the institution has been judged urgent improvement for leadership and governance or inclusion or safeguarding is not met, except in cases where Ofsted has judged the institution or part of the institution to be suitable to host induction (see paragraph 2.7)

Where induction may be served or continued in a maintained school in special measures or an FE institution which has been judged inadequate

- 2.5 Relevant schools and academies can continue to host induction where a teacher was employed on an employment-based initial teacher training scheme in the school prior to gaining QTS or had already started an induction period in the setting, before it entered special measures.
- 2.6 Generally, once a setting has been deemed to require special measures⁶ it is not permitted to recruit any new ECTs. However, an Ofsted Inspector may make a judgement on whether the setting is suitable for the purposes of induction. In some cases, particularly with larger schools, Ofsted may give permission for ECT appointments within specific departments or subject departments of the school.
- 2.7 ECTs already serving induction in an FE institution where the overall effectiveness of the institution, or part of its education and training, have been judged to be inadequate (category 4) at the time of inspection or, in the case of an Ofsted inspection on or after 10 November 2025, the provider has been judged urgent improvement for leadership and governance or inclusion or safeguarding is not met, can continue to serve induction. FE institutions judged as inadequate, or where leadership and management is judged inadequate, or, in the case of an Ofsted inspection on or after 10 November 2025, the provider has been judged urgent improvement for leadership and governance or inclusion or safeguarding is not met, should have a certification in writing from the Chief Inspector that the institution, or the part of such an institution in which the person in question teaches, is fit for the purpose of providing supervision and training during an induction period.

- 2.8 In all cases, the appropriate body should be satisfied that such circumstances will not unfairly compromise the ECT's ability to complete induction successfully.

Checking a teacher is eligible to start an induction period

- 2.9 Before the ECT takes up post the headteacher/principal must undertake pre-employment checks, which must be verified by the appropriate body upon registration (see paragraph 2.10).

Qualified teacher status (QTS)

- 2.10 An ECT cannot undertake statutory induction (or a period of employment counting towards induction) unless they have been awarded QTS.
- Appropriate bodies must check the 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service that the individual holds QTS.
 - Headteachers/principals must check the 'Check a teacher's record' service that the individual holds QTS.

Start date for induction

- 2.11 The ECT must be registered with an appropriate body which has agreed to act before the start of the induction (see paragraph 2.27).
- 2.12 The start date for induction will be determined by the appropriate body and should be agreed in advance with the headteacher/principal and ECT.
- 2.13 The start date for induction should be the date the ECT starts teaching in a suitable post for induction and is registered with an appropriate body. It is not determined by when the ITTECF-based training programme begins. For example, where an ECT starts employment in a suitable teaching post before their ITTECF-based training commences, statutory induction begins from the first day the ECT is in that post. This may be a different date from when the ECT's contract starts.

Eligibility to carry out short-term (less than one term) supply teaching

2.14 A qualified teacher who gained QTS and who has not completed an induction period, can only undertake short-term supply work of less than one term in a relevant school for a maximum period of 5 years from the point of award of QTS. This is a fixed time limit with no discretion to extend. Short-term supply placements of less than one term, or equivalent, cannot count towards induction, as such posts will not provide an ECT with the breadth of experience, support, and assessment necessary to enable them to demonstrate that their performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory (see paragraphs 1.9 and 2.18–2.19).

2.15 After 5 years from the point of the award of QTS a qualified teacher:

- who has not completed an induction period can only teach in a relevant school (see para 2.1) if they are employed in a post of one term or longer and are undertaking statutory induction.
- can continue to undertake only short-term supply work (less than one term) in settings that are not relevant schools without restriction. However, these settings may choose to offer induction where a qualified teacher is appointed to a post of one term or longer (see para 1.11).
- can work part-time as a short-term supply teacher, while concurrently serving induction in another part-time post. However, the short-term supply post will not count towards induction.

2.16 The headteacher/principal or supply agency is responsible for ensuring that a teacher who has not satisfactorily completed an induction period is eligible to carry out short-term supply work.

2.17 It is not possible to backdate the start of an induction period if a short-term supply contract is extended so that it lasts for one term or longer. However, an induction programme must be put in place immediately if it becomes clear that the extended contract will continue for at least a term.

A suitable post for induction

2.18 In order for the ECT to serve induction the headteacher/principal and appropriate body must first agree that the post is suitable for this purpose. The headteacher/principal of the institution in which an ECT is serving an induction period, and the appropriate body, are jointly responsible for ensuring that the supervision and training of the ECT meets their development needs. The duties assigned to the ECT, and the conditions under which they work, should be such as to facilitate a fair and effective assessment of the ECT's conduct and efficiency as a teacher against the Teachers' Standards. A suitable post is expected to:

- have a headteacher/principal in post who is able to make a recommendation about whether the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory;
- have prior agreement with an appropriate body to act in this role to quality assure the induction process;
- provide the ECT with a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF;
- provide the ECT with the necessary employment tasks and experience of teaching whole classes, as well as with the necessary support to enable them to demonstrate satisfactory performance against the Teachers' Standards throughout and by the end of the induction period;
- include the appointment of an induction tutor who is expected to hold QTS;
- include the appointment of a designated mentor who is expected to hold QTS;
- provide the ECT with a reduced timetable to enable them to undertake activities in their induction programme (see paragraphs 2.20-2.21);
- not make unreasonable demands upon the ECT;
- not normally demand teaching outside the age range and/or subject(s) for which the ECT has been employed to teach;
- not present the ECT, on a day-to-day basis, with discipline problems that are unreasonably demanding for the setting;
- involve the ECT regularly teaching the same class(es);

- involve similar planning, teaching and assessment processes to those in which other teachers working in similar substantive posts in the institution are engaged in; and
- not involve additional non-teaching responsibilities without the provision of appropriate preparation and support (see paragraph 2.39).

2.19 In addition, the governing body must be satisfied that the institution has the capacity to support the ECT and that the headteacher/principal is fulfilling their responsibilities.

Ensuring a reduced timetable

2.20 In a relevant school, the headteacher/principal must ensure that the ECT has a reduced timetable. In the first year (terms 1-3, or equivalent for part-time ECTs) of induction an ECT must not teach more than 90% of the timetable of the school's existing teachers on the main pay range and in the second year (terms 4-6, or equivalent for part-time ECTs) of induction must not teach more than 95%. This time off timetable should be used to specifically enable ECTs to undertake activities in their induction programme, including their ITTECF training and mentoring.

2.21 This is in addition to the timetable reduction in respect of planning, preparation and assessment time (PPA) that all teachers receive. ECTs serving induction in independent schools, academies and free schools, BSOs, independent nursery schools and FE colleges must also have a reduced timetable on a comparable basis.

Determining the appropriate body

2.22 Independent quality assurance of statutory induction, through the role of the appropriate body, is important both for ensuring that schools provide adequate support for their ECTs, and that their assessment is fair and consistent across all institutions.

2.23 An ECT cannot start their induction until their appropriate body has been agreed. In the absence of another body acting as appropriate body for a school, the teaching school hub for the area in which the school is situated should be asked to be the appropriate body for that school.

2.24 The following organisations can act as the appropriate body:

- A teaching school hub (subject to the conditions outlined in paragraph 2.25)
- An organisation determined for this purpose by the Secretary of State.

These organisations currently are:

- The Independent Schools Teacher Induction Panel (ISTIP) (for their members and associate or additional members only)
- Educational Success Partners (ESP) (From August 2024, for BSOs eligible to offer induction under paragraph 2.1)

Conditions for teaching school hubs carrying out the appropriate body role

2.25 Teaching school hubs acting as appropriate bodies are subject to the following conditions:

- A teaching school hub that is a DfE-accredited ITT provider cannot be the appropriate body for an ECT for whom it recommended that the award of QTS should be made; and
- A teaching school hub cannot be the appropriate body for an ECT whom it employs, or who has served any part of their induction at that school.

Charging by the appropriate body

2.26 The appropriate body may make reasonable charges (agreed in advance), not exceeding the cost of supplying the service as follows:

- To any maintained school or institution
- To an independent school; an academy; a free school; a city technology college; a BSO; an independent nursery school; or a further education institution to which it is supplying the service

Registering the ECT with the appropriate body

2.27 Once an ECT has been appointed, the headteacher/principal must notify the appropriate body in advance of the ECT taking up post. Failure to do so may delay the start of the induction period as it is not possible to backdate the start of induction.

Named contact at the appropriate body

2.28 At registration, the appropriate body should provide the ECT with a named contact with whom they may raise any concerns about their induction programme that they are unable to resolve. This person should not be directly involved in monitoring or supporting the ECT or in making decisions about satisfactory completion of induction.

Informing the DfE's 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service of ECT appointments

2.29 Appropriate bodies should inform the DfE via the 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service of any ECTs who start an induction period or who have taken up a post in which to continue their induction.

Determining the length of the induction period

2.30 The length of the induction period an ECT is required to serve, whether the teaching post in which they are doing so is part-time or full-time, is the full-time equivalent of two school years. This usually consists of six school terms, divided into two periods each consisting of three school terms (see paragraph 2.36).

2.31 The appropriate body makes the final decision about the equivalence to two school years in cases where the ECT serves induction in more than one setting or in non-standard settings such as those in the FE sector.

2.32 In some exceptional circumstances the length of an induction period may be reduced. For further details see Section 3: Special Circumstances.

Minimum period of continuous employment that can count towards induction

2.33 The minimum period that will need to be counted towards completion of the induction period (for both full-time and part-time ECTs) is continuous employment equivalent to one term (based on an institution that operates three terms in a school year). This applies to both permanent and long-term supply teaching posts. So, for part-time ECTs the minimum period of one term only requires the ECT to be in employment for one term. They do not have to undertake induction equivalent to one full term to fulfil the minimum period over a longer period of time.

- 2.34 The minimum period of one term reflects the need for each ECT to work in a stable environment and receive a supported and pre-planned induction programme. In addition, it is important that the ECT is in post long enough to be able to receive sufficient monitoring and feedback and prepare for a fair and reasonable assessment of their performance. It would be very difficult to do this against all of the Teachers' Standards over a period of less than one term. After the minimum period has been served, any continuous employment of any length of time will count towards the 2-year induction period on the ECT's records. Therefore, if a full time ECT ends a contract of employment after serving 2.5 terms, their records⁷ (and interim assessment) should show that they have completed 2.5 terms, and they will be expected to complete a further 3.5 terms when they resume induction. If a part time ECT working 0.5 FTE ends a contract of employment after 2.5 terms, their records (and interim assessment) would show that they have completed 1.25 terms and would be expected to resume induction from that point (although this should be read in conjunction with guidance around reductions to induction periods available for part time ECTs – please see Section 3).
- 2.35 For ECTs who are not employed to work within a term structure (for example those teaching certain apprenticeship courses in an FE institution) the appropriate body should decide the minimum period of employment that can count towards induction, taking into account paragraph 2.33 above.

Length of the induction period for an ECT who works part-time

- 2.36 ECTs serving induction on a part-time basis at any point will need to serve the full-time equivalent (FTE) of two full school years (based on a school year of three terms). Therefore, an ECT working part-time as a 0.5 FTE will need to serve induction for four school years.
- 2.37 It is for the headteacher/principal and appropriate body to decide in each individual case the length of the induction period required which is fair and takes full account of the ECT's working pattern.

⁷ Please note that the DfE's 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service is able to record partial terms to one decimal place. Local records held by the ECT's school/institution and the appropriate body should record the exact length of induction served.

2.38 In cases where part-time ECTs have completed a period covering but not equivalent to a minimum of two full school years and can demonstrate that they meet the Teachers' Standards they may, taking into account paragraph 2.37 above, be able to have their induction period reduced (see paragraph 3.5 on reductions).

Monitoring, support and assessment during induction

2.39 A suitable monitoring and support programme must be put in place for the ECT, structured to meet their professional development needs (including the development needs of part-time ECTs). This is expected to include:

- a programme of training that supports the ECT to understand and apply the knowledge and skill set out in the ITTECF's evidence ('learn that') statements and practice ('learn how to') statements;
- regular one to one mentoring sessions from a designated mentor who is expected to hold QRS and has the time and ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge and experience, to carry out the role effectively;
- support and guidance from a designated induction tutor who is expected to hold QTS and has the time and ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge and experience, to carry out the role effectively;
- observation of the ECT's teaching with written feedback provided;
- professional reviews of progress conducted by the induction tutor to set and review development targets against the Teachers' Standards; and
- ECT's observation of experienced teachers either in the ECT's own institution or in another institution where effective practice has been identified.

Training based on the Initial Teacher Training and Early Career Framework (ITTECF)

2.40 The headteacher is expected to ensure that ECTs receive a programme of training that enables the ECT to understand and apply the knowledge and skills set out in each of the ITTECF evidence ('learn that') statements and practice ('learn how to') statements. A training programme based on the ITTECF is expected to be embedded as a central aspect of induction; it is not an additional training programme.

2.41 There are now two approaches schools can choose from to enable the delivery of a training programme based on the ITTECF. It is up to the headteacher to choose the approach that best suits the needs of their ECTs and mentors. The approaches are:

- A funded provider-led programme - Schools can choose to work with providers accredited by DfE who will design and deliver a programme of face-to-face and online training to ECTs and their mentors. This programme is funded by DfE.
- Schools deliver their own training programme (with the option to use freely available school-led materials and resources) - Schools can choose to develop their own programme of training and support based on the ITTECF. The content of the framework must be covered in full. Schools can choose to use, in full or in part, the freely available school-led materials, which include ready-to-use materials and resources for early career teachers and mentors, to deliver their own ECT and mentor support. These materials have been accredited by DfE and quality assured by the Education Endowment Foundation.

Appointment of an Induction Tutor

2.42 The headteacher/principal should identify a person to act as the ECT's induction tutor, to provide regular monitoring and support, and coordination of assessment. The induction tutor is expected to hold QTS and have the necessary skills, knowledge and experience to work successfully in this role and be able to assess the ECT's progress against the Teachers' Standards. This is a very important element of the induction process, and the induction tutor must be given sufficient time to carry out the role effectively and to meet the needs of the ECT. The induction tutor will need to be able to make rigorous and fair judgements about the ECT's progress in relation to the Teachers' Standards. They will need to be able to recognise when early action is needed in the case of an ECT who is experiencing difficulties. It may, in some circumstances, be appropriate for the headteacher/principal to be the induction tutor. The induction tutor is a separate role to that of mentor (see paragraph 2.45).

Appointment of a mentor

- 2.43 The headteacher/principal or induction tutor should identify a person to act as the ECT's mentor, to provide regular mentoring. The mentor is expected to hold QTS and have the necessary skills, knowledge and experience to work successfully in this role. Where possible, this includes having the skills and experience to provide mentoring for the specific subject and/or phase of their ECT. Mentoring is a very important element of the induction process, and the mentor is expected to be given adequate time to carry out the role effectively and to meet the needs of the ECT. This includes attending regular mentoring sessions and mentor training where appropriate.
- 2.44 ECT and mentor sessions are expected to be timetabled during teaching hours as schools are funded to cover the time off timetable for both ECTs and mentors. The headteacher/principal and appropriate body are expected to ensure that mentors are given sufficient time to carry out the role effectively and meet the needs of their ECTs. In exceptional circumstances, where schools require flexibility due to timetabling constraints, mentoring and mentoring training may take place outside of teaching hours but should always be scheduled within contracted time.
- 2.45 The mentor and the induction tutor are two discrete roles with differing responsibilities and it is expected that these roles should be held by different individuals. In exceptional circumstances it may be necessary for the headteacher to designate a single teacher to fulfil both roles, which may be the headteacher/principal themselves. Where this is the case, the headteacher should ensure that the induction tutor understands that they are fulfilling two discrete roles, the induction tutor is given sufficient time to fulfill both roles, and that adequate safeguards are put in place to ensure that the mentoring support offered to the ECT is not conflated with assessment of the ECT against the Teachers' Standards.

Observation of the ECT's teaching practice

- 2.46 An ECT's teaching is expected to be observed at regular intervals throughout their induction period to facilitate a fair and effective assessment of the ECT's teaching practice, conduct and efficiency against the Teachers' Standards.

Observations of the ECT may be undertaken by the induction tutor or another suitable person from inside or outside the institution.

2.47 It is also expected that:

- the observer holds QTS;
- the ECT and the observer meet to review any teaching that has been observed, with arrangements for post-observation review meetings made in advance;
- feedback from the observation is provided in a prompt manner and is constructive, with a brief written record made on each occasion; and
- any written record will indicate where any development needs have been identified.

Professional progress reviews of the ECT

2.48 ECTs undertaking induction are exempt from appraisal⁸. The induction tutor is expected to review the ECT's progress against the Teachers' Standards throughout the induction period, with progress reviews taking place in each term where a formal assessment (see paras 2.55–2.61) is not scheduled. For ECTs serving induction on a part-time basis this means progress reviews are also expected to take place each term (based on an institution that operates three terms in a school year), regardless of their working patterns. This is to ensure that part-time ECTs on low FTE still receive regular reviews of their progress against the standards and that support is put in place early where unsatisfactory progress occurs.

2.49 When scheduling or requesting progress reviews, induction tutors and appropriate bodies are expected to consider:

- When in the term an ECT started their induction. An ECT who joined halfway through term one is expected to have a progress review by halfway through term two (this applies to both full-time and part-time ECTs).

⁸ As set out in regulation 1\(4\)\(a\) of the Education (School Teachers' Appraisal) (England) Regulations 2012 (the Appraisal Regulations)

- Where, due to part-time working patterns, a progress review and formal assessment fall within a period of less than one term. In these circumstances the ECT should only be required to do the formal assessment.
- Where an ECT is absent at the point a progress review is scheduled. In these circumstances, any outstanding progress review is expected to be rescheduled when the ECT returns.

2.50 Progress reviews are expected to be informed by existing evidence of the ECT's teaching and to be conducted with sufficient detail to ensure that there is nothing unexpected for the ECT when it comes to their formal assessment.

2.51 Progress reviews are not formal assessments and there is no requirement for ECTs to create evidence specifically to inform a progress review. ECTs are expected, nonetheless, to engage with the process and provide copies of existing evidence as agreed with the induction tutor.

2.52 A written record of each progress review should be retained and provided to the ECT after each meeting, with the record clearly stating whether the ECT is on track to successfully complete induction, briefly summarising evidence collected by the induction tutor and stating the agreed development targets. It is also expected that objectives are reviewed and revised in relation to the Teachers' Standards and the needs and strengths of the individual ECT.

2.53 Where the induction tutor is not the headteacher, it is expected that they also update the headteacher on the ECT's progress after each progress review.

2.54 It is expected that the induction tutor notifies the appropriate body and ECT after each progress review stating whether the ECT is making satisfactory progress. Where the induction tutor believes the ECT is not making satisfactory progress (see paragraph 4.1) it is expected they outline the plan they have put in place to assist the ECT in getting back on track. It is expected that schools maintain regular contact with the appropriate body throughout induction, keeping them apprised of the ECT's progress and providing them with copies of all progress reviews.

Formal assessments

- 2.55 ECTs should have formal assessments carried out by either the headteacher/principal or the induction tutor. Mentors should not carry out formal assessments unless they are also acting as the induction tutor (see Section 5 for further information about roles and responsibilities). ECTs should receive an assessment in the final term of the first year (term 3 or equivalent for part-time ECTs) and in the final term of the second year of induction (term 6 or equivalent for part-time ECTs). It is for institutions and ECTs to agree exactly when the assessment dates are set. Evidence used in assessments should be clear and transparent and copies of the assessment reports should be provided to the ECT and appropriate body.
- 2.56 Where an ECT is absent at the point a formal assessment is scheduled, any outstanding formal assessment should not be made until the ECT returns.
- 2.57 Evidence for assessments must be drawn from the ECT's work as a teacher during their induction. To ensure evidence gathering is not burdensome for the ECT, formal assessment meetings should be informed by evidence gathered during progress reviews and assessment periods leading up to the formal assessment. This will consist of existing documents and working documents. There is no need for the ECT to create anything new for the formal assessment, they should draw from their work as a teacher and from their induction programme. Judgements made during the induction period should relate directly to the Teachers' Standards and should not be made against the ITTECF (see paragraph 1.9).
- 2.58 ECTs should be kept up to date on their progress. There should be nothing unexpected.
- 2.59 Formal assessment reports should be completed for both formal assessments. These reports should clearly show assessment of the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards at the time of the assessment.
- 2.60 The final assessment meeting is at the end of the induction period and will form the basis of the headteacher's/principal's recommendation to the appropriate body as to whether, having completed their induction period, the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory, unsatisfactory, or whether or not an extension should be considered. This recommendation should be recorded on the final assessment report.

- 2.61 Once assessment reports have been completed, the ECT should add their comments. They should then be signed by the induction tutor, headteacher/principal and the ECT. Once signed the ECT should be given the original and a copy sent to the appropriate body shortly after each meeting, and within 10 working days of the final assessment meeting. These may be submitted electronically.

Interim assessments

- 2.62 When an ECT leaves a post after completing one term or more in an institution but before the next formal assessment would take place, the induction tutor or headteacher/principal is expected to complete an interim assessment. This is expected to take place before the ECT leaves their post to ensure the capture of the ECT's progress, performance, the length of induction completed, and the number of days absent since the last assessment. This is especially important where concerns about progress may have arisen. The information recorded on the interim assessment report will help to ensure that induction can be continued effectively in any subsequent post. This is also required if the ECT leaves during their final term of induction.
- 2.63 This information should then be used to determine the ECT's remaining length of induction and whether an absence extension, in accordance with paragraphs 3.6 – 3.7, is required and, if so, the length of that extension. For example, where an ECT has been employed for a full school year (based on a school year of three terms) but has only completed two terms of induction due to one term of absence, the interim assessment should reflect both the total period of employment (including the number of days absent) and the length of induction completed to date. In this example, the ECT will have completed two terms of induction, with a one-term absence extension left to serve before the second year of induction begins. When recording this information on the 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service, the appropriate body should only record the length of induction completed to date, in the example provided this would be two terms.

2.64 In exceptional circumstances where an interim assessment cannot be completed before the ECT leaves post (for example, in situations where an absent ECT subsequently leaves their post without returning) the induction tutor or headteacher/principal is still expected to complete an interim assessment report and provide a copy to the appropriate body and the ECT.

Raising concerns

2.65 An ECT is normally expected to raise any concerns about their induction programme with their induction tutor in the first instance. If the matter is not resolved, the ECT may notify the named contact at the appropriate body (see paragraph 2.28) who should, as soon as possible, investigate the issues raised.

Completing the induction period

2.66 An ECT completes their induction period when they have served:

- the full-time equivalent of two standard school years (usually six terms, based on a school year of three terms); or
- a reduced period of a minimum of one term (as agreed with the appropriate body) based on previous teaching experience (see paragraphs 3.2– 3.4); or
- a reduced period of induction for part time teachers covering but not equivalent to a minimum of two years (as agreed with the appropriate body) (see paragraph 3.5); or
- an extension to that period, as a consequence of absences occurring during the period (see paragraphs 3.6- 3.9).

2.67 The appropriate body makes the final decision as to whether an ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory, drawing on the recommendation of the headteacher/principal.

2.68 Within 20 working days of receiving the headteacher's/principal's recommendation, the appropriate body must decide whether the ECT:

- has performed satisfactorily against the Teachers' Standards and thereby satisfactorily completed their induction period;
- requires an extension of the induction period; or

- has failed to satisfactorily complete the induction period.
- 2.69 In making this decision the appropriate body must take into account the headteacher's/principal's recommendation and all available evidence including any written representations from the ECT.
- 2.70 The appropriate body must, within three working days of making the decision, make written notification of the decision to: the ECT; the headteacher/principal (in whose institution the ECT was working at the end of their induction); and the employer (if other than the appropriate body itself). They must also notify the DfE via the 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service and should do so within three working days in the case of decisions to fail or extend the ECT's induction, and via the termly return for other notifications.
- 2.71 If the appropriate body decides to extend the period of induction or that the ECT has failed to complete their induction period satisfactorily, they must inform the ECT of their right to appeal against this decision, with the name and address of the Appeals Body (the Teaching Regulation Agency), and the deadline for submitting an appeal. The ECT must notify the Teaching Regulation Agency that they wish to appeal the decision within 20 working days, after which the right of appeal expires except in exceptional circumstances.
- 2.72 Failure to complete the induction period satisfactorily means that the ECT is no longer eligible to be employed as a teacher in a maintained school, a maintained nursery school, a non-maintained special school or a pupil referral unit. However, this does not remove their QTS. Failure to complete the induction period satisfactorily does not prevent them from teaching in other settings where statutory induction is not mandatory.
- 2.73 An ECT working in a relevant school who has failed induction must be dismissed within ten working days of them giving notice that they do not intend to exercise their right to appeal, or from when the time limit for making an appeal expires without an appeal being brought. If the ECT's appeal is heard, and they have been judged as having failed induction, the employer should dismiss the ECT within ten working days of being told of the outcome of the hearing.
- 2.74 The Teaching Regulation Agency must ensure that the name of the person who has failed induction is included on the list of persons who have failed to satisfactorily complete an induction period and notify them of their inclusion. This must only be done once the time limit for making an appeal against the decision has expired or following dismissal of such an appeal.

Record keeping/retention

- 2.75 The appropriate body is responsible for keeping a record of each ECT it has registered for induction. It should also monitor the return of progress review outcomes and assessment reports and contact the institution concerned when these documents have not been submitted or signed on time. Records should state the date an ECT starts a period of employment counting towards induction, how much of the period has been completed, changes in working patterns and any absences. These should be noted when submitting progress review records and on assessment reports at the end of each formal assessment period (see paragraphs 2.48-2.61). The headteacher/principal should notify the appropriate body if an ECT leaves the institution before completing the period. The appropriate body will then notify the DfE via the ‘record inductions as an appropriate body’ service.
- 2.76 Where an ECT has already completed part of their induction period in another institution, the headteacher/principal should contact the ECT’s previous appropriate body to obtain copies of any progress review records or assessment reports (including any interim assessments). They should establish how much induction time remains to be served and alert the ECT’s current appropriate body to any concerns that have been raised about the ECT’s progress by previous employers. The current appropriate body is expected to ensure that the headteacher/principal has contacted the ECT’s previous appropriate body and has obtained the necessary reports to ensure induction can be continued effectively. Where agreed with the headteacher/principal, the current appropriate body may contact the ECT’s previous appropriate body to obtain the necessary reports.
- 2.77 The ‘record inductions as an appropriate body’ service keeps records of teachers who have completed or part-completed induction. Details of teachers who have passed or failed induction are available to employers through the ‘check a teacher’s record’ service. As the Appeals Body, the Teaching Regulation Agency also keeps records of all appeals.

2.78 Assessment reports should be retained by both the institution and the appropriate body for a minimum of six years. If there are reasons for the institution and the appropriate body to retain records for longer than six years, they may do so as long as they comply with the Data Protection Act. ECTs are advised to retain the original copies of their own assessment reports.

Confidentiality and data protection

2.79 Headteachers/principals, induction tutors and appropriate bodies should ensure that arrangements are in place to facilitate the effective protection and secure transfer of data.

2.80 The induction process and the assessments generated from it should be treated with confidentiality at all times and should not be shared with anyone not directly involved in the induction process. It should be made clear to anyone viewing such documents that they are confidential and ECTs must be made aware of who has been granted access to their assessments.

2.81 The governing body can request general reports on the progress of an ECT on a termly basis but are not automatically entitled to have access to an individual's assessment reports. The exception to this would be when an ECT has raised concerns about a particular issue/assessment via the institution's grievance procedures, which would in many cases require the governing body to investigate the situation. If at any stage the governing body has questions or concerns about the quality of the institution's induction arrangements and the roles and responsibilities of staff involved in the process, they can seek guidance from the appropriate body.

Section 3: Special circumstances

3.1 This section explains the regulations that apply on a less regular basis. It covers:

- reducing an induction period in recognition of previous teaching experience and exceptional circumstances;
- extending an induction period;
- short-term supply teaching and ECTs;
- ECTs employed simultaneously in two or more institutions;

- determining completion of induction in the event of loss of data/incorrect data; and
- special provisions applying to a qualified teacher who has not passed the numeracy skills test on completion of the induction period (Cohort 1).

Reducing the induction period

3.2 Even though some teachers already have significant teaching experience when they enter the maintained sector for the first time, they are still required to serve statutory induction. In such cases, appropriate bodies have discretion to reduce the length of the induction period to a minimum of one term (based on a school year of three terms) to recognise this experience. An appropriate body in England has the discretion to consider reducing the 2-year length of the Induction period being served under the English legal framework (the 2012 regulations) in recognition of part of an induction served in Wales under the Welsh induction regulations⁹ subject to evidence of induction records.

3.3 In making such a decision they should take account of advice from the headteacher/principal and must gain the agreement of the teacher concerned. If a teacher wishes to serve the full induction period they must be permitted to do so. The appropriate body may wish to consider what evidence of previous experience and performance they require in reaching their decision, including performance management documentation from previous teaching employment. Reductions should only be considered where an ECT has extensive prior experience of teaching whole-classes to the Teachers' Standards. Two possible examples of when this discretion might be considered appropriate include a teacher who has taught in the independent sector or who has gained QTS via the assessment-only (AO) route¹⁰ Both examples are not Schedule 1 exemptions, and this means that teachers who have taught in the independent sector or who have gained QTS via the AO route are still required to satisfactorily complete induction in a relevant school in England. In all cases, if a reduced induction is considered appropriate when determining the length by which the induction is to be reduced appropriate bodies are expected to consider the remaining progress that is to be made against the Teachers' Standards.

¹⁰ The assessment-only route to QTS allows an individual with a degree to demonstrate that they already meet all the relevant standards without the need for any further training by presenting detailed evidence to an accredited and approved training provider by having their teaching assessed in a school.

- 3.4 Where the length of induction is reduced to one term, only the final assessment meeting and report (see paragraphs 2.60–2.61) will be required with the headteacher's/principal's recommendation on whether the teacher's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory or if an extension would be appropriate. The appropriate body will then follow the induction process in the normal way (see paragraphs 2.66–2.74).
- 3.5 Separately, ECTs serving induction on a part-time basis may, on completion of a minimum period covering but not equivalent to two full years, be able to have their induction period reduced. After the minimum period, at the point when enough evidence has been gathered that the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory, the headteacher/principal may consult with the appropriate body on whether a reduced induction is appropriate. It is for the appropriate body to consider whether to grant a reduction and bring forward the final assessment point. When considering whether to reduce a part-time ECT's induction, the appropriate body is expected to consult the headteacher/principal and must gain the agreement of the teacher concerned. A reduction, in these circumstances, should only be made on the basis that the ECT has met the Teachers' Standards.

Extending the induction period prior to completion to account for absences that are not defined as statutory leave

- 3.6 The induction period is automatically extended prior to completion when an ECT's absences per year of induction (or equivalent for part-time teachers) total 30 days or more (with the exception of statutory maternity leave, statutory paternity leave, shared parental leave, statutory adoption leave, parental bereavement leave, carer's leave, or neonatal care leave (see paragraph 3.8)). In these circumstances the relevant year of induction must be extended by the aggregate total of days absent. If the ECT is unable to serve the extension in the same school/institution, the minimum period of employment of one term or equivalent must be served in a new school/institution (see paragraph 2.63 for information on how absences should be recorded in interim assessments and on the 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service).

- 3.7 Additional absences cannot be added on top of an existing absence related extension. The ECT will need to complete the absence extension and then undertake either the formal assessment in the final term of the first year (term 3 or equivalent for part-time ECTs) or the final assessment in the final term of the second year of induction (term 6 or equivalent for part-time ECTs) depending on the ECT's relevant year of induction (see paragraph 2.55). For example, during the first year of induction an ECT has worked 15 days of a 30-day absence extension and then becomes absent on the 16th day for the remainder of the 30-day absence extension this new absence does not add further days to this extension. This extension completes on the 30th day, after which the second year of induction begins. In this example, if the ECT remains absent when the second year of induction has begun, a new absence extension would then be triggered for the second year of induction.

Extension of the induction period prior to completion due to types of statutory leave

- 3.8 ECTs who take statutory maternity leave, statutory paternity leave, statutory adoption leave, shared parental leave, parental bereavement leave, carer's leave¹¹ or neonatal care leave¹² while serving their induction period or serving an extension to their induction period may decide whether their induction period should be extended (or further extended) to reflect the number of days absent for this purpose. If an ECT chooses not to extend (or further extend) their induction period, their performance will still be assessed against the Teachers' Standards. It is, therefore, recommended that an ECT in this situation discusses this with their appropriate body and school before making such a decision.

¹² As defined under the Neonatal Care Leave and Pay Act 2023, legislation: The Neonatal Care Leave and Pay \(Consequential Amendments to Subordinate Legislation\) Regulations 2025

3.9 Any outstanding assessments should not be made until the ECT returns to work and has had the opportunity to decide whether to extend (or further extend) their induction period, and any such request must be granted. If an ECT chooses not to extend (or further extend) their induction period and is either unable to, or chooses not to, return to the same school/institution in which they undertook induction prior to their statutory leave, and they are due a final assessment, responsibility for conducting that final assessment rests with the school/institution where they served their induction and statutory leave, in conjunction with the respective appropriate body.

Extension of the induction period after the agreed length induction has concluded

3.10 The appropriate body has the option, when making its decision at the end of the induction period (see paragraphs 2.67–2.71), to extend the period where this can be justified. It determines the length of the extension, the procedure for assessments during it, and the recommendation at its end. The appropriate body may decide to extend where there is insufficient evidence on which a decision can be based or where it would be unreasonable to expect the ECT to have demonstrated satisfactory performance against the Teachers' Standards for other reasons. These might include:

- personal crises;
- illness;
- disability;
- issues around the support during induction; or
- where there is insufficient evidence within induction documentation for a decision to be made about whether the ECT's performance against the standards is satisfactory.

3.11 An ECT may be unable to, or choose not to, serve an extension in the same school/institution in which they completed their original induction period. They will then need to find another post in which to complete the extension to their induction period. In these circumstances the minimum period of employment, of one term, must still be served as the ECT will be working in a new institution.

3.12 If an ECT leaves an institution having started but before completing their extension, the headteacher/principal should complete an interim assessment report and notify the appropriate body.

Induction periods extended in Wales (before or after completion)

3.13 When an extension is granted under Welsh regulations and the ECT is subsequently employed at an institution in England, the period is treated as having been extended under English regulations. These ECTs will be expected to complete the remainder of a two-year statutory induction, unless they are eligible under transitional arrangements to complete the remainder of their one-year induction (see paragraphs 1.4–1.8).

Data loss/error – determining whether induction has been satisfactorily completed

3.14 In exceptional circumstances, if a teacher has completed induction but records have either been lost or are in error through no fault of the teacher concerned, the appropriate body can treat the teacher as having satisfactorily completed induction provided they are satisfied that the teacher has met the Teachers' Standards (see paragraph 24 of Schedule 1 of the 2012 induction regulations) and this can be adduced through the criteria in paragraph 3.14. Each case must be considered on its own merits.

3.15 The appropriate body will want to ensure that every avenue has been explored to recover the missing data or identify an audit trail before making such a decision. The appropriate body making the decision must be any currently operating appropriate body (which may be approached by a teacher or school who originally appointed an appropriate body that has since ceased to operate) and must check that the following criteria as set out in the 2012 induction regulations \(see paragraph 24 of Schedule 1\) have been met:

- There is some evidence that the teacher's induction period was satisfactorily completed (including appropriate body oversight of the teacher's induction)
- There is evidence that the teacher has demonstrated that they have met the Teachers' Standards. This must be evidenced through an appraisal report or its equivalent, which can be any information that covers a period of one year within the previous five years and demonstrates that the teacher has met the Teachers' Standards, from an institution referred to in regulation 6 of the 2012 induction regulations.

If the criteria has been met, then the appropriate body can treat the teacher as having satisfactorily completed induction and can contact the Department for Education who will update the teacher's induction record. If the criteria has not been met then the appropriate body may wish to consider other options such as the teacher undertaking a full induction period or the possibility of a reduced period of induction (see paragraphs 3.2-3.4).

ECTs completing induction in more than one institution simultaneously

3.16 In all cases where induction is served in more than one institution simultaneously, one headteacher/principal acts as the lead headteacher/principal. The lead headteacher/principal:

- Is expected to ensure that they are satisfied that all posts are suitable for induction (see paragraphs 2.18–2.19), and provide a fair opportunity for the ECT to demonstrate that they have performed satisfactorily against all of the Teachers' Standards by the end of the induction period;
- is responsible for consulting with and gathering evidence from the other headteachers/principals;
- should also, in the case of unattached teachers¹³, where appropriate, consult the Head of Service¹⁴ from the local authority; and
- having coordinated the evidence, make the recommendation to the appropriate body on whether the ECT has performed satisfactorily against all of the Teachers' Standards. Methods of sharing information and gathering evidence for progress reviews, classroom observation and ¹³ Unattached teacher means a teacher employed by a local authority who is:

- (a) Not attached to a particular school, or
- (b) Employed otherwise than at a school.

¹⁴ The Head of Service is the person at the local authority responsible for the line management of the ECT.

formal assessments should be clear to all those involved in the process, including the ECT.

- 3.17 In all cases where induction is served in more than one institution simultaneously, it is essential that one appropriate body takes the lead in making the decision, following the recommendation from the lead headteacher/principal.
- 3.18 For ECTs serving induction in more than one institution simultaneously, the separate contracts are added together to calculate the number of days in which induction must be served and recorded by the lead headteacher/principal. Each separate contract of employment must meet the minimum period criteria (see paragraphs 2.33–2.35).

Special provisions applying to teachers who gained QTS between 1 May 2000 and 30 April 2001 (Cohort 1)

- 3.19 Teachers who gained QTS in England between 1 May 2000 and 30 April 2001 are known as Cohort 1 teachers. Previously these teachers had to additionally pass the numeracy skills test before they could complete induction satisfactorily and be employed as a teacher in a relevant school. This requirement was removed on 25 June 2020.
- 3.20 Cohort 1 teachers who have completed induction but did not pass a numeracy skills test before 25 June 2020 may contact the appropriate body, with any written representations or other evidence, who can decide if they have satisfactorily completed other elements of their induction. If they have not completed all other elements of the induction, they can continue with their induction without the need to pass a numeracy skills test.

Section 4: Unsatisfactory progress and appeals

Putting in place additional monitoring and support

- 4.1 ECTs undertaking induction are exempt from appraisal¹⁵. Where the induction tutor determines during the progress review that the ECT is not making satisfactory progress against the Teachers' Standards, they should state this clearly within the progress review record and clearly outline the support plan they have put in place to assist the ECT in getting back on track. The induction tutor is expected to notify the appropriate body of this determination and share both the progress review record and support plan for the appropriate body to review.
- 4.2 If it becomes apparent that an ECT is not making satisfactory progress in the first formal assessment, the appropriate body should be informed, and the headteacher/principal should ensure that additional monitoring and support measures are put in place immediately. It is important that the ECT is made aware of where they need to improve their practice and given every opportunity to raise their performance. The headteacher/principal and the appropriate body should be satisfied that:
- areas in which improvement is needed have been correctly identified;
 - appropriate objectives have been set to guide the ECT towards satisfactory performance against the Teachers' Standards; and
 - an effective support programme is in place to help the ECT improve their performance.
- 4.3 If the ECT's progress is still unsatisfactory in subsequent progress reviews following the first assessment point, induction tutors should continue to deliver progress reviews as set out above, including reviewing and revising the ECT's objectives and support plan, linking these with the Teachers' Standards and sharing with the ECT, headteacher and appropriate body.

¹⁵ As set out in regulation 1\(4\)\(a\) of the Education (School Teachers' Appraisal) (England) Regulations 2012 (the Appraisal Regulations)

Action if performance is still unsatisfactory

4.4 Where there are still concerns about the ECT's progress between formal assessment one and two, the induction tutor should explain to the ECT the consequences of failure to complete the induction period satisfactorily and discuss fully with the ECT:

- the identified weaknesses;
- the agreed objectives previously set in relation to the requirements for the satisfactory completion of induction, updating these as necessary;
- details of additional monitoring and support put in place;
- the evidence used to inform the judgement; and
- details of the improvement plan for the next assessment period.

4.5 As with all progress reviews, the progress review record should capture the ECT's unsatisfactory performance against the Teachers' Standards and be shared with the appropriate body alongside the corresponding support plan.

4.6 The completion of the assessment report will reflect the current rate of progress and brief details of the issues discussed.

Action in the event of serious capability problems

4.7 In a few particularly serious cases it may be necessary for an employer to instigate capability procedures at a stage before the end of the induction period, which may lead to dismissal before the end of the induction period. If this is the case, for as long as the ECT remains at the institution the induction process must continue in parallel with the capability procedure. The appropriate body should be informed however, it is the employer that has a responsibility to manage its capability procedures and decisions relating to the outcome of these. The role of the appropriate body relates only to the ECT's performance in relation to induction.

4.8 Dismissal on the grounds of capability before the end of the induction period does not prevent the ECT from completing induction at another institution, as all ECTs must complete a full induction period before they can be judged to have passed or failed induction. Further guidance on capability procedures can be found separately at: Teacher appraisal and capability: model policy - GOV.UK \(www.gov.uk\)

Making an appeal against a decision by the appropriate body

4.9 If an ECT fails induction, or has their induction extended, the appropriate body must advise the ECT of their right to appeal, who to appeal to, and the time limit for doing so. In England, the Appeals Body is the Teaching Regulation Agency, which acts on behalf of the Secretary of State. For induction completed in Wales, the Appeals Body is the Education Workforce Council.

4.10 Further guidance about the appeals process is available at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/induction-appeals-procedures>

Section 5: Roles and responsibilities

5.1 This section summarises the roles and responsibilities of those involved in the induction process.

The ECT

5.2 The ECT is expected to:

- provide evidence that they have QTS and are eligible to start induction;
- meet with their induction tutor to discuss and agree priorities for their induction programme and keep these under review;
- agree with their induction tutor how best to use their reduced timetable allowance and guarantee engagement with their programme of training and support based on the ITTECF;
- provide evidence of their progress against the Teachers' Standards (see paragraph 1.9);
- participate fully in the agreed monitoring and development programme;
- raise any concerns with their induction tutor as soon as practicable;
- consult their appropriate body named contact at an early stage if there are, or may be, difficulties in resolving issues with their tutor/within the institution;
- keep track of and participate fully in the scheduled classroom observations, progress reviews and formal assessment meetings;
- agree with their induction tutor the start and end dates of the induction period/part periods and the dates of any absences from work during any period/part period; and

- retain copies of all assessment reports.

Headteachers and principals

5.3 The headteacher/principal is, along with the appropriate body, jointly responsible for the monitoring, support and assessment of the ECT during induction, and is expected to:

- check that the ECT has been awarded QTS;
- clarify whether the teacher needs to serve an induction period or is exempt;
- agree, in advance of the ECT starting the induction programme, which body will act as the appropriate body;
- notify the appropriate body when an ECT is taking up a post in which they will be undertaking induction;
- ensure that the requirements for a suitable post for induction are met;
- ensure the induction tutor has the ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge, experience and sufficient time to carry out their role effectively;
- ensure that the mentor has the ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge, experience and sufficient time to carry out their role effectively;
- ensure an appropriate programme of training and support based on the ITTECF is in place;
- ensure the ECT's progress is reviewed regularly, including through observations of and feedback on their teaching and that progress reviews are sent to the appropriate body;
- ensure that assessments (including any interim assessments) are carried out and reports completed and sent to the appropriate body;
- maintain and retain accurate records of employment that will count towards the induction period;
- ensure that all monitoring and record keeping is done in the most streamlined and least burdensome way;
- make the governing body aware of the arrangements that have been put in place to support ECTs serving induction;

- make a recommendation to the appropriate body on whether the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory or requires an extension;
- participate appropriately in the appropriate body's quality assurance procedures; and
- retain all relevant documentation/evidence/forms on file for six years.

5.4 There may also be circumstances where the headteacher/principal is expected to:

- obtain interim assessments, any formal assessment and progress reviews from the ECT's previous post;
- act early, alerting the appropriate body when necessary, in cases where an ECT may be at risk of not completing induction satisfactorily;
- ensure third-party observation of an ECT who may be at risk of not performing satisfactorily against the Teachers' Standards;
- notify the appropriate body as soon as absences, within each year of induction, total 30 days or more;
- periodically inform the governing body about the institution's induction arrangements;
- advise and agree with the appropriate body where, in exceptional cases, it may be appropriate to reduce the length of the induction period or deem that it has been satisfactorily completed;
- consult with the appropriate body in cases where a part-time ECT has completed a minimum period covering, but not equivalent to, two school years and has met the necessary requirements, where it may be appropriate to reduce the length of the induction period;
- provide interim assessment reports for staff moving school in between formal assessment periods; and
- notify the appropriate body when an ECT serving induction leaves the institution.

5.5 In addition to the above, headteachers/principals of FE institutions, independent schools, academies and free schools, BSOs and nursery schools should also ensure the ECT's post and responsibilities comply with the specific requirements for statutory induction in these settings.

Induction tutors

5.6 The induction tutor (or the headteacher/principal if carrying out this role) is expected to:

- provide, or coordinate, guidance for the ECT's professional development (with the appropriate body where necessary);
- carry out regular progress reviews throughout the induction period;
- undertake two formal assessment meetings during the total induction period coordinating input from other colleagues as appropriate (normally one at the end of term three and one at the end of term six, or pro rata for part-time staff);
- carry out progress reviews in terms where a formal assessment does not occur;
- inform the ECT following progress review meetings of the determination of their progress against the Teachers' Standards and share progress review records with the ECT, headteacher and appropriate body;
- inform the ECT during the assessment meeting of the judgements to be recorded in the formal assessment record and invite the ECT to add their comments;
- ensure that the ECT's teaching is observed and feedback provided;
- ensure ECTs are aware of how, both within and outside the institution, they can raise any concerns about their induction programme or their personal progress;
- take prompt, appropriate action to support the ECT, if an ECT appears to be having difficulties; and
- ensure that all monitoring and record keeping is done in the most streamlined and least burdensome way, and that requests for evidence from ECTs do not require new documentation but draw on existing working documents.

Mentors

5.7 The mentor (or the induction tutor if carrying out this role) is expected to:

- regularly meet with the ECT for structured mentor sessions to provide effective targeted feedback;

- work collaboratively with the ECT and other colleagues involved in the ECT's induction within the same school to help ensure the ECT receives a high- quality programme of training and support based on the ITTECF;
- provide, or broker, effective support, including phase or subject specific mentoring and coaching; and
- take prompt, appropriate action to support the ECT, if an ECT appears to be having difficulties.

Appropriate bodies

5.8 The appropriate body has the main quality assurance role within the induction process. Through quality assurance, the appropriate body should assure itself that:

- headteachers/principals (and governing bodies where appropriate) are aware of and are capable of meeting their responsibilities for monitoring support and assessment. This includes checking that an ECT receives a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF, a designated induction tutor and mentor with the appropriate skills and experience, and the reduced timetable; and
- the monitoring, support, assessment and guidance procedures in place are fair and appropriate.

5.9 Only those organisations set out in Section 4(2) of the 2012 induction regulations can act as appropriate bodies and their functions must not be delegated. Within Teaching School Hubs (TSHs) the appropriate body is the designated lead school. For every ECT that is claimed by a TSH in its capacity as an appropriate body, the TSH cannot delegate or share its appropriate body responsibilities towards that ECT with another TSH, AB, third party or across a wider network or partnership of bodies. The appropriate body may work with third parties or partners who can support or facilitate the delivery of the roles and responsibilities. But where the appropriate body chooses to work with partners, the appropriate body itself must still:

- Retain full responsibility for regulatory duties and powers including overseeing induction and must directly take all decisions on agreeing reductions and extensions with the ECT and recommendations to pass or fail induction which would all be based on its own consideration of relevant evidence.

- Make direct decisions in every case concerning the suitability of posts and institutions, appropriate action where schools are not complying with requirements or actions taken to support ECTs' progress.
- Maintain oversight of and accountability for all activities undertaken by third parties, and ensure services are conducted according to the agreed operating policies and processes of the appropriate body and this statutory guidance.

5.10 The appropriate body should, on a regular basis, consult with headteachers/principals on the nature and extent of the quality assurance procedures it operates, or wishes to introduce. Institutions are required to work with the appropriate body to enable it to discharge its responsibilities effectively.

5.11 The appropriate body is expected to take steps to ensure that:

- headteachers/principals have put in place a programme of training and support based on the ITTECF;
- headteachers/principals (and governing bodies where appropriate) are meeting their responsibilities in respect of providing a suitable post for induction;
- the monitoring, support, assessment and guidance procedures in place are fair and appropriate;
- where an ECT may be experiencing difficulties, action is taken to address areas of performance that require further development and support;
- where an institution is not fulfilling its responsibilities, contact is made with the institution to raise its concerns;
- induction tutors have the ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge, experience and sufficient time to carry out their role effectively;
- mentors have the ability, including the relevant skills, knowledge, experience and sufficient time to carry out their role effectively;
- headteachers/principals are consulted on the nature and extent of the quality assurance procedures it operates, or wishes to introduce;

- any agreement entered into with either an FE institution or an independent school's governing body is upheld;
- the headteacher/principal has verified that the award of QTS has been made;
- the school is providing a reduced timetable in addition to PPA time;
- the ECT is provided with a named contact (or contacts) within the appropriate body with whom to raise concerns;
- FE institutions (including sixth-form colleges) are supported in finding schools for ECTs to spend ten days teaching children of compulsory school age in a school;
- ECTs' records, progress reviews and assessment reports are maintained;
 - headteachers/principals have obtained or have been provided with interim assessments, any formal assessment and progress reviews from the ECT's previous post;
 - the school is submitting progress reviews and assessment reports (including any interim assessments) on time;
- all monitoring and record keeping is done in the most streamlined and least burdensome way and that requests for evidence from ECTs do not require new documentation but draw on existing working documents;
- agreement is reached with the ECT and the headteacher/principal is consulted where a reduced induction period may be appropriate or is deemed to be satisfactorily completed;
- agreement is reached with the ECT and the headteacher/principal is consulted in cases where a part-time ECT has completed a minimum period covering, but not equivalent to, two school years and has met the necessary requirements where a reduced induction period may be appropriate;
- a final decision is made on whether the ECT's performance against the Teachers' Standards is satisfactory, or an extension is required and the relevant parties are notified; and
- they provide the DfE's 'record inductions as an appropriate body' service with details of ECTs who have started; completed (satisfactorily or not);

require an extension to; or left school partway through an induction period; together with details of the type of induction an ECT is accessing (see paragraph 2.29).

- retain all relevant documentation/evidence/forms on file for six years.

5.12 The appropriate body should also (as local capacity, resources and agreements allow):

- respond to requests from headteachers/principal to obtain interim assessments, any formal assessment and progress reviews from the ECTs previous post;
- respond to requests from schools and colleges for guidance, support and assistance with ECTs' induction programmes;
- provide information to the headteacher on the types of induction available; and
- respond to requests for assistance and advice with training for induction tutors and mentors.

The governing body

5.13 The governing body:

- should ensure compliance with the requirement to have regard to this guidance;
- should be satisfied that the institution has the capacity to support the ECT;
- should ensure the headteacher/principal is fulfilling their responsibility to meet the requirements of a suitable post for induction;
- must investigate concerns raised by an individual ECT as part of the institution's agreed grievance procedures;
- can seek guidance from the appropriate body on the quality of the institution's induction arrangements and the roles and responsibilities of staff involved in the process; and
- can request general reports on the progress of an ECT.

Teaching Regulation Agency

5.14 The Teaching Regulation Agency will carry out specific statutory duties on behalf of the Secretary of State, including:

- hearing appeals; and
- ensuring that the names of ECTs who have failed induction are included on the list of persons who have failed to satisfactorily complete an induction period.

Department for Education

5.15 The Department for Education records ECT inductions and maintains a record of teachers who have passed or failed induction (through information provided by appropriate bodies). Information is available to employers through the 'check a teacher's record' service.

Annex A: Exemptions

Where a qualified teacher may be employed in a relevant school in England without having satisfactorily completed an induction period.

Column 1 of the table shows the relevant paragraph reference in Schedule 1 of The Education \(Induction Arrangements for School Teachers\) \(England\) Regulations 2012 for each exemption.

References in Schedule 1	Exemption	Explanation
Paragraph 1	A person who was already a qualified teacher on 7 May 1999.	A teacher who gained QTS on or before 7 May 1999 (even if they did not take up their first post until after September 1999).
Paragraph 2	A person currently undertaking a period of induction.	A teacher who is serving their induction period in a permitted setting, including periods which have been extended (including those who have completed an induction period in England or Wales and are awaiting the decision of the appropriate body).

References in Schedule 1	Exemption	Explanation
Paragraph 3	A person waiting for the outcome of an appeal having not performed satisfactorily against the relevant standards.	A teacher who is waiting for the outcome of an appeal against a decision that they have failed to perform satisfactorily against the relevant standards.
Paragraph 4	A person employed on a short-term supply basis, without undertaking induction.	A teacher who is employed as a short-term supply teacher (working periods of less than one term). This can only be done during the first five years following the award of QTS.
Paragraph 5	A person employed part-time as a supply teacher whilst also undertaking induction.	A teacher who is employed as a short-term supply teacher on a part-time basis but who is concurrently serving induction. Please note that the five-year limit (see above) does not apply to teachers in this situation.
Paragraphs 6, 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 20	A person who has satisfactorily completed induction, probation, or the equivalent in certain other countries.	The countries are Wales, Northern Ireland, Gibraltar, Jersey, Guernsey, Isle of Man, and in Ministry of Defence Schools located outside of the United Kingdom.
Paragraph 7	A person who trained in England, and then subsequently first worked as a teacher in Wales (before 2003).	A teacher who gained QTS in England on or after 7 May 1999 but before 1 April 2003, and who, subsequently, took up their first post in Wales and who has served at least two terms towards their induction.
Paragraph 8	A person who – <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) has, or is eligible for, full registration as a teacher with the General Teaching Council for Scotland; and, b) unless that person had or was eligible for such registration before 1 February 2023, has successfully completed a probationary period in Scotland. 	A person who has full registration as a teacher with the General Teaching Council for Scotland, but who got that registration after 1 February 2023, and has completed a probationary period in Scotland. Teachers who have full registration with the General Teaching Council for Scotland prior to 1 February 2023 are also exempt from induction whether or not they completed a probationary period.

Teaching Regulation Agency

- The Teaching Regulation Agency is an executive agency of the Department for Education and was formerly known as the National College for Teaching and Leadership (NCTL). Part of its role is to recognise teachers who have acquired qualified teacher status (QTS) in England.
- The Agency also acts on behalf of the Secretary of State as the competent authority for teaching in England. This role includes the recognition of the professional status of teachers from outside England. This includes the award of QTS to fully qualified overseas trained teachers and teachers trained within other parts of the United Kingdom who fit the relevant criteria in schedule 2 of the School Teachers' Qualifications Regulations 2003.
